Miss Caroline Mudgett on her Eightieth Birthday

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

In the summer of 1950, as we were leaving the Historical Society in Concord, N. H., the librarian asked, "Do you know Miss Caroline Mudgett in Plymouth, N. H.? She can probably help you." We knew that the paternal grandfather was "born in Maine", and that was all we knew. We retraced our route to Plymouth and found Miss Caroline (then 85 years old.)

"Now, sit right down and look at these notes of mine until I get back. I just have to go out to the cemetery with these other folks." In less than ten minutes, we found that grandfather was born in Dixmont, Maine and left at age two". Miss Caroline returned soon, as full of energy as ever. She had spent her life since retirement as a teacher, compiling this Mudgett genealogy.

Thus began one of our most treasured friendships. Often, she asked us to take her notes and get them published. For several years, we had to refuse. Then, we became acquainted by correspondence with another Mudgett octogenarian Marion (Mudgett) Williams in Los Angeles, who performed a similar task for the West Coast Mudgetts.

In the spring of 1957, we realized that these two sets of genealogical data should be combined and put in a form where they would be easily available. Miss Caroline was already in the hospital and Mrs. Williams was nearly blind. But they were both delighted at the possibility of a Mudgett genealogy being printed.

In the long task of bringing the material up-to-date, there have been many Mudgetts, who have helped generously. Especial mention should be made of Florence Mudgett and her sisters who scanned every phone book in the country for Mudgett names and of Mrs. Ruth (Mudgett) Souders, who took time from a trip around the world to visit Guilford, Co. Surrey, England, the original home of the family and has employed an English genealogist to continue research in England. Many, many more have encouraged us by copying family records; gathering cemetery inscriptions and writing to other Mudgetts for genealogical data. So this is a truly co-operative venture. We hope that a later edition will find the answers to the many questions that have baffled us. Regrettably, the text of many wills which verified relationships, were omitted to save space.

INTRODUCTION

It was once thought that the Mudgett ancestry might be unique in not sharing that dubious distinction of so many family trees, of claiming an ancestor on the heavily overloaded fleet of William the Conqueror. But no! Both the Battle Abbey Rolls and the Domesday Book contain the name of Rolph Mudge. Being there, he was, either like Will Rogers' ancestor "on the reception committee", when William arrived or was one of William's invaders. And, in whichever role, he must have survived the invasion and acquired enough land to be listed in Domesday Book.

A possible further confirmation of the French origin of the family is found in a tradition, which has come dowin in at least two widely separated branches of the family. That story is that the name was originally Muguet, the French word for lily-of-the-valley.

According to a manuscript in the British Museum (Mss 14:311 fol 67) the original English spelling of the name was M U G G E als Mudg. There seems to be little doubt that the MUDGE and MUDGETT families come from a common ancestor. One explanation of the different spellings, which has been offered, is that the branch of the family, which settled in Devonshire used MUDGE, while those who remained around Co. Surrey and London were MUDGET or MUDGETT. "Surnames" by Ernest Weekley (p.69) says "Mudge"; a Devon and Cornwall name for mud, swamp." The surname is common in both shires.

"Memorials: being a Genealogical, Biographical and Historical Account of the name of Mudge in America from 1638-1868" by Alfred Mudge states that this branch of the family traces its ancestry to Rev. Zachary Mudge, D.D. of St. Andrews, Plymouth, England, There were, however, three Mudge brothers Jarvis, Thomas and Gilbert in Malden, Mass. as early as 1638. This Thomas, (according to American Genealogy by Virkus 7:870) was born cir 1624 and therefore could not have been the ancestor of the Mudgetts, the emigrant Thomas, who was reportedly born in 1614.

Guildford (or Guildeford) Co., Surrey, England is the place where the Mudgetts are first mentioned after the Domesday entry. Geoffry Mugge was a Member of Parliament in 1383; Seneschal of Guilford in 1413 and again in 1426. His son Thomas was Seneschal or Mayor of Guilford in 1471-3. Thomas had a son Thomas, Jr., whose son, Walter was the parish priest in the Church of St. Mary of Guilford in 1474/5. In his will, proven in 1795, Walter mentions the arms to be engraved on the tomb of relatives buried in the church, he being buried in the church-yard. Daniel was the son of Walter and married Isabell, daughter and heiress of John Hill als Hull, and widow of Thomas Engler. Daniel was Mayor of Guilford in 1537 and provided "a harness and fill on his own hands for the King's wars." Walter's daughter, Marguerite (and sister of Daniel) married Sir Christopher More, Knight of Losley and owner of Westbury Manor in Compton. A claim has been made that Daniel, Jr. moved to Devonshire and his son Thomas (b. 1532) had a son Geoffry (b. 1582). This Geoffry was said to be the ancestor of the emigrant ancestor, Thomas Mudgett (1614-1685). But the British Museum Mss 14,311 fo 62 formerly 67 says Daniell, Sr. "obit s.p." died without progeny. However, this line of descent is given here on the possibility that later research will prove there was a Daniel, Jr.

John Mugg als Mudg —

Stephen Mugg	Geoffry
Thomas Mugg-Joan	Michell Mugg —

Walter of Guildford-Joan				Agnes
Sir Christopher More-of Losely	Marguerite Mugge	Daniell-Isabell Mugg d. & h. John Hill		Ann ux Allen	Joan

Sir Christopher More "Remembrancer of the Exchequer" was a great favorite of Queen Elizabeth, who visited the Manor of Loseley (2 mi s.w. of Guilford) in 1576, 1583, 1591. By that time his son, Sir William More owned the Manor.

Another reason why this line of descent seems questionable is because the name Geoffry does not appear in the early American generations.

A more logical line of descent would be from John Mudget, Baylyf of Kingston-on-Thames in 1572. He may be one of the Johns mentioned in the will of Walter Mugge "clerk", a yeoman of Crediton, Devon on 11-2-1565. He left to his brother Thomas 53s 4d per annum for 20 years; and various sums of money to the sons of his brother Thomas; namely, John the Elder, John the Younger, Henry and George; to his nephew William Mugge and to another nephew Walter, son of his brother Richard. All of these given names appear early in the American line. Also, the early American Mudgetts lived in Kingston, N. H.

It seems quite possible that John the Younger or his son or nephew was the John Mudgett, chandler who married in St. Mildred's Church, Bread St. London, on 8-27-1610, Elizabeth Spiser of Harmondsworth, Co. Middlesex. Because the records of this church were destroyed in the Great Fire of London, birth records for the children of this couple have not been discovered. There are, however bits of evidence tending to support this thesis. Both Spicers and Mudgetts were among the earliest adventurers in Virginia.

Starting with the famous colonies of Sir Walter Raleigh; a Capt. Spicer was drowned in 1589, at the site of the Lost Colony. He was a member of the relief expedition. To-day, the Midgette families on the outer banks of North Carolina claim descent from the Lost Colony. The will of Rebecca Saintsbury of St. Olaf Parish, Southwark, Co. Surrey names grandsons Thomas and James Spicer in Westmoreland Co., Virginia.

In the early 1620s, there was, in Virginia, a William Mudge. He may be the William of Paignton, Devon, whose marriage to Lettice Hodder was recorded in St. Petrox Church, Dartmouth, Devon on 10-16-1620 (Rare Books Room, Library of Congress. Banks Collection)

The emigrant ancestor, Thomas Mudgett was said to have married Ann Woreton or Worton. In Virginia, in the 1620s, there was a Nathaniel Worton. (See Hotten's Persons of Quality p. 176.) Some forty years later, the Mudgett brothers, Thomas and John, shipwrights were given land in return for transporting colonists in their own boat.

Meanwhile, two wills should be noted. 1-13-1625/6, John Mudgit, "deceased abroad" left his estate to his father John. And, Elizabeth Mudget of Stroud, Kent on 6-10-1639, as the widow of Thomas, "deceased beyond the seas" names a son Thomas and a daughter Beatrice Faunce.

MUDGETTS IN VIRGINIA

"Tho. Mudgett
520 acres Chas. City Co. and part in Surry Co. 19 December 1663. Upon Wbr of upper Chapokes Creek beg. at a great poplar in said branch thence S E by S at the head of Geo. Burcher's land 320 po to red oak nigh the spring bottom thence S W by W &. Trans of 5 persons; Jno Brasbridge, Richard Dorington, Wm. Pinion. Eliz. Stacy, Edw. Genings, Elinor Read, Tho. Gregory, Rose Bird Wm. Gregory, Roger Best, Mary Fluell."

"Wm. Ridley sold to Jno Mudgett, 550 acres in Henrico Co. 2 June 1665 in Bristol Parish on North side of Appomattox River."

Thomas', daughter, Elizabeth was baptized in Parish of Martin's Brandon, Charles Citie Co, on 1-9-1660 and his wife Ellinor buried there 6-15-1660. In Feb. 1665, Thomas held 520 acres in Bristol Parish, N of Appomattox river south of neck called tunstalls S.S.W. — a location close to John Mudgetts 550 acres described above.

After these entries, the Mudgetts disappear from Virginia records, except for the will of Ann Mudgett (4-9-1689): Wills of Surrey Co. IV:144.

COAT-OF-ARMS

Since the Thomas Mudge of Malden (born circa 1624) does not seem to be the Thomas Mudgett (born in 1614) who was the ancestor of the American Mudgetts, the Mudge coat-of-arms cannot be used by the Mudgetts. The Mugge part of the More coat-of-arms agrees with the arms described in the British Museum manuscript: "Argent a chevron between three Wyverns sable (called cockatrices)" (Harl Mss 1397 fo 146b).

A story has come down in the family that a coat-of-arms, similar to the Mudge one with the addition of a red crest, as first granted during the siege of St. Jean d'Arc under Richard I in 1191. They were the arms of a Saracen chieftain captured in battle and conferred upon the victor. The cockatrices are said to be Oriental in origin.

The Field Marshal under William the Conqueror, to whom land was given for his valued services, spelled the name Moucherett. The spelling Mochett appeared in a will as late as 1582. However, these traditions have not yet been verified.

The subsequent history of the Mudgetts is consistent though with many of these traditions and the early English history of the family. One or more branches of the family has been constantly pushing westward in search of better land and riches. The early interest in ships and ship building was carried on for several generations in Maine. One Mudgett died in Australia, one in China, another in Panama. There were Mudgetts in the California Gold Rush and later in the Klondike.

Another characteristics was the fondness of the family in naming their sons for famous men, especially U. S. Presidents. Starting back in England with Hamlet Mudgett, there were:

George Washington Mudgett
John Quincy Adams "
William Henry Harrison Mudgett
Franklin Pierce Mudgett
Andrew Jackson "
George Rogers Clark Mudgett

There were also:

7 Benjamin Franklin Mudgetts
2 Ralph Waldo Mudgetts
Isaac Newton Mudgett
William Pitt "
Henry Livingstone Mudgett
Decatur Mudgett and
Webster " . Were they perhaps Stephen Decatur and Daniel Webster Mudgett? And was Marquis D. named for Marquis de Lafayette.

THOMAS MUDGETT OF SALISBURY, MASS. AND HIS DESCENDANTS

THOMAS MUDGETT (1) shipwright was in Salisbury, Mass. as early as 1663 and evidence points to the fact that he was the Thomas Mudgett of Virginia. The tradition has been that he was the son of Thomas Mudgett (born in England in 1614) who married Ann Woreton or Worton. There was a death in 1663 in Salisbury of an unidentified Mudgett. Whether this was Thomas, Sr. or of his son John, who was also in Virginia, is unknown. For this genealogy Thomas, jr. is called Thomas (1). He married on 10-6-1665 SARAH (CLEMENT) MORRILL, a widow with a large family. He married in 1695, ANN (FRENCH) LONG, another widow. (b. 1659)

Children:

MARY	(2)	b. 4-30-1667	m. John Quinby.
TEMPERANCE	(2)	b. 10-10-1670
WILLIAM	(2)	b. 10-16-1696
THOMAS	(2)	b. 1-3-1698
JOHN	(2)	b. 12-17-1700

There are several pages of court records about the operation of Thomas' ship-yard, which had to be omitted because of lack of space but two items may be noted. Besides the ship-yard, he had two-thirds interest in a fulling mill and owned half a saw-mill.

In 1690, forty-one men of Salisbury became Freemen of Mass. Bay Colony but of the forty-one, only three were given the title "Mr," and Thomas was one of the three. This suggests that he came from a good English background for the title was reserved for ministers, magistrates and important members of the community.

MARY MUDGETT (2) (Thomas 1) born in Salisbury, Mass. on 4-30-1667; died there on 11-27-1710. She married JOHN QUINBY (b. 1665) son of Robert Quinby.

Children:

John Quinby		b. 7-8-1688
Jeremiah Quinby		b. 8-24-1689
Eleazur	"	b. 5-13-1691
David	"	b. 7-19-1693
Sarah	"	b. 3-31-1695
Robert	"	b. 12-13-1701
Jonathan	"	b. 6-12-1704
Jacob	"	b. 3-13-1706
Jethro	"	b. 8-17-1710

Jethro was brought up by his Aunt Temperance, after his mother's death, as recorded in a payment by his father for his care.

PART I
Descendants of William Mudgett[2]

WILLIAM MUDGETT (2) (Thomas 1) "a husbandman," born in Salisbury, Mass. on 10-16-1696; died before 6-15-1730 when his estate was admitted to probate in Essex Co., Mass. When President Jefferson applied the Embargo Act to shipments to Canada, northern Vermont inhabitants were incensed, because they depended on sales of potash in Canada.

The Federalists of Boston came to the rescue; purchased a ferry-boat on Lake Champlain and re-christening it "The Black Snake," placed William Truman in charge as captain. In a skirmish with officers of the militia ordered by Jefferson to stop the illegal trade, a man was killed. William and his crew were jailed and their first trial before Royall Tyler, resulted in a hung jury. They were sent back to jail for a year, until the next court session, at which time William Truman was acquitted.

Whereupon William Truman, his father David and brother David started west, settling in Niagara Co., N. Y. in 1810-11.

THE BALLAD OF THE BLACK SNAKE

In the year eighteen hundred and eight,
The Embargo Law in Vermont state,
Did so enrage our furious Feds
They would cross the line or lose their heads.
Our rulers meant to be obeyed,
And sent some men to stop the trade;
Some of our soldiers did combine
In arms, to guard the northern line.

A smuggling set in the Black Snake
Resolved to sail upon the lake,
They armed themselves to fight their way,
And thus they thought to win the day.
The men who laid this smuggling plot
Was Sheffield, Mudgett, Dean and Mott,
And many more who were not clever
Spread out their sails on Onion River,
All for to load their boat again
And then to sail across the line.

But soldiers were so well agreed
Their plan did not so well succeed.
Our officers found where she lay,
The orders were, Take her away;
The Revenue was then sent on,
Commanded by one Farrington.

And when this smuggling rebel crew
Heard of the boat, the Revenue,
Unto the house of Joy's they went,
And there one night in private spent
There each agreed upon a man
and Mudgett took the sole command;
He, like a Tory, or a friend,
The lives of many meant to end.

To carry on this wicked deed,
With a large gun they did proceed

And by the Snake they made a stand,
To guard the same stood on the land.
Then Farrington sailed from the lake
And thus he to the rebels spake,
"Orders I have to take the Snake
And all the smugglers on the lake."

This raised their blood, to arms they flew,
For to keep off the Revenue
And execute this wicked deed,
That did from rebel hearts proceed.
Then Mudgett gave the threatening word
To all the men that was on board,
"The first that steps into the Snake
A lifeless corpse of him I'll make."

But Farrington feared not his threats,
Into the smuggler boat he steps;
There like a warrior bold and brave
His blood and honor thought to save.
Now let us turn and view the scheme,
And who begun this bloody scene;
It was Sheffield, with his Indian skill,
The crimson blood of Drake did spill.
With hearts unfeeling they went then
To spill the blood of honest men;
Ormsby and Marsh then prostrate fell;
Before these wicked imps of hell,
And bold and warloke Farrington
His crimson blood they caused to run.

These men were tried all for the same crime,
Why not alike their sentence find;
Dean was sentenced to the halter,
The rest convicted of manslaughter.

Author unknown

Dean was tried, convicted and executed
Mott was tried, convicted and sentenced to ten years hard labor, the pillory for one hour, and fifty lashes at the public whipping post
Mudgett, sometimes called Truman, and at others William, was of Highgate, and was acquitted.
